

COLLABORATION BETWEEN COMLUX AND PRATT & WHITNEY ON AIRBUS ACJ TWOTWENTY ENGINE SUPPORT

The Airbus ACJ TwoTwenty aircraft is exclusively powered by Pratt & Whitney GTF™ engines.

Zurich, Switzerland - Feb 20, 2024 – As the world's only operator of Airbus ACJ TwoTwenty aircraft, Comlux has established a collaboration with Pratt & Whitney to provide engine maintenance services for Comlux customers. Clients purchasing the all-new ACJ TwoTwenty aircraft exclusively powered by Pratt & Whitney GTF™ PW1500G engines will now be able to benefit from this cooperation with the engine manufacturer.

The engine services have been curated to support corporate and private operators based on over 3 million engine hours of commercial operation. At the same time, the performance of the PW1500G engines installed on the ACJ TwoTwenty aircraft already in service has been excellent.

Andrea Zanetto, CEO Comlux Aviation:

"In private aviation, customers like to have a full support package for their aircraft operation. Airbus is offering such option for the airframe, Comlux for the cabin, and this collaboration with Pratt & Whitney is the complement we need to make all customers comfortable when buying the ACJ TwoTwenty."
